

The only reason the NAB is trying to block the expansion of XM radio is because they feel that there is a significant threat to their business. However, if they provided the services and features that XM offers there wouldn't even be an issue. Rather than trying to block the expansion of new ideas and services, increase your services and expand the individual services to suit the needs of listeners. Competition is what makes a business better. Step up to the challenge...if nothing else this will make your business better.
